Today's Features

5 Jeff Nunamacher
A first impression of Jeff Nunamacher might lead you to believe that he was a native of South Carolina. But, this quiet senior who likes to hunt and fish is a Yankee from New Jersey. Southerner Annabelle Vaughan files this report.

7 Ty Granger
No one in ACC history has ever been a strength, academic and on-field All-American in the same season, but Ty Granger has a chance to pull off the triple. Sheri West profiles the senior tackle from Easley.

49 Campus Life
Clemson has one of the finest campuses in the country. Here is a scenic tour of Clemson University.

54 Another Banner Year
Clemson's sports program once again ranked among the best in the nation last year. From a national championship soccer team to four spring sports in NCAA tournaments, 1987-88 was filled with team and individual accomplishments. Annabelle Vaughan reviews the year.

57 Jeff Bak
Senior center Jeff Bak is on his way to a record breaking season. Sam Blackman takes a look at the native of Darien, CT.

81 Chamber of Commerce
There is more to the city of Clemson than football games in the fall, as Bob Ellis relates.

85 Mother-of-the-Year
Lou Willimon wins this year's award, which is presented by Tiger Brotherhood. Ira Bedenbaugh tells us all about this fine lady who has been an integral part of the Clemson community for many years.

87 Furman-Clemson Series
Furman and Clemson both used the same uniform pants over 20 years ago, on the same day to defeat two different teams from the state of Virginia. Sam Blackman reveals some other interesting facts about this series on page 87.

116 Tiger Soccer
Clemson returned to the top of the college soccer world last year with its stunning run through the NCAAs. Sam Blackman summarizes Clemson's chances for a repeat performance.

119 University Feature
A Clemson business class marketed a Clemson football board game last year. Sandy Woodward takes us through a semester project that sounds like fun.

120 The Last Word
Bob Bradley takes us back to some interesting Furman-Clemson stories, including one contest that featured a snow storm.

On the Cover: Offensive linemen Ty Granger, Jeff Bak and Jeff Nunamacher are the mainstays of Clemson's veteran line. Jim Moriarty of Southern Pines, NC photographed all three during games last season.

Third-Ranked Tigers Meet Oldest Gridiron Foe

By Tim Bourret

Johnson Leads Tiger Defense

Sophomore defensive end John Johnson was a major reason Virginia Tech averaged only 2.46 yards per play last Saturday. The native of Georgia had eight tackles, including two quarterback sacks and another tackle for loss. For his efforts Johnson was named ACC Defensive Player-of-the-Week.

It is ironic that Johnson had this stellar performance against Virginia Tech because the Gobblers were the victim of his best game last year. Johnson had a career-high nine stops and 1.5 sacks at Virginia Tech last year. Thus, Johnson's top two tackle efforts in his short career have come against the Gobblers. Frank Beamer can see how Johnson rated first-team USA Today All-America status in high school.

Ford Moves Up to Fifth

Clemson Coach Danny Ford moved up to fifth place on the winningest active coaches list last week. With his team's 40-7 win over Virginia Tech and BYU's loss to Wyoming, Ford is now 77-25-4 for a .745 winning percentage. LaVell Edwards fell to 145-50-1 for his career at BYU, a .742 winning percentage. Next on the list for Ford is Bo Schembeckler of Michigan. That leap might take awhile because Bo is at .772 (215-81-7) heading into Michigan's game at Notre Dame Saturday night.

Here are some other Danny Ford records of note in certain situations: Danny Ford coached Clemson teams are 68-6-3 when leading heading into the fourth quarter; 61-7-2 when leading at the half; 57-10-2 when Clemson scores first; 47-3-2 when Clemson commits fewer turnovers than the opposition; 60-6-2 when Clemson rushes for over 200 yards; 60-7-2 when Clemson throws less than 20 passes.

Born to Run

Clemson running back Joe Henderson got his junior season off to a great start last week in helping Clemson to a 40-7 win over Virginia Tech. Henderson had 75 yards rushing in seven carries, a 10.7 yards per carry average. Henderson is a native of Freehold, NJ and is rapidly becoming at least the second most famous native of that city. It is also the hometown of rock star Bruce Springsteen, who is famous for a song called "Born to Run." I wonder if Joe owns a denim jacket and plays the guitar? Sounds like a good poster idea.

By the way, if you are watching an Iowa State game this year, you might do a double take, or think that Joe is moonlighting. Incredible as it might seem, the Cyclones also have a 5-9 tailback who wears number-33 named Joe Henderson. I bet that makes the NCAA statistics computer smoke on Saturday nights.

Furman Update

After losing 31 seniors and 16 starters off last year's 7-4 squad, the young Furman Paladins got off to a good start last week against South Carolina State, defeating the Bulldogs 38-0. It was the first opening game shutout for the Division I-AA school in 22 years. Seven offensive players started for the first time against S.C. State, while all five players on the Paladin defensive front were first-time starters.

Over the past eight seasons, Furman has relied heavily on its ground attack, averaging 263.0 yards per game on the ground since 1980. Against the Bulldogs, the Paladins ran for 310 yards behind tailback Bobby Daugherty's 103 yards and two touchdowns. Daugherty (5-9, 181, So.), cousin of Brad Daugherty of the NBA's Cleveland Cavaliers, was playing in his first game since midseason 1986, when he suffered a knee injury.

John Johnson was ACC Player-of-the-Week for his performance against VPI.

The Furman offense centers around fullback Kennet Goldsmith (6-2, 208, Sr.). Goldsmith, billed as the Southern Conference's premier blocker, has now rushed for 1,212 yards in his three-year career with the Paladins, including 85 yards and one touchdown last week.

The Paladin defense is led by strongside linebacker Jeff Blankenship (6-2, 225, Sr.), a second-team All-Southern Conference pick in 1987. Blankenship recorded 144 tackles in 1987 and had 15 tackles in last week's opener and recovered a fumble. With over 350 career tackles, Blankenship is well on his way to setting an all-time Furman mark in that category. Kevin Kendrick (6-0, 209, So.), another first-time starter, will handle the linebacking duties on the weak side and had 14 stops a week ago.

Against South Carolina State, left cornerback Julius Dixon (5-10, 168, Sr.) lived up to his second-team all-conference standing. Dixon blocked two Bulldog punts and had an interception in the endzone to halt a State scoring drive.

Clemson in the Polls

Clemson is ranked third in the AP poll this week, the 20th straight poll that Clemson has been ranked. This is already a Clemson mark for consecutive weeks ranked in the AP top 20 and the streak dates back to the poll previous to the 1986 Gator Bowl. Clemson then beat Stanford in that bowl game and moved to the number-20 slot and has stayed in the top 20 ever since.

Clemson was ranked fourth in the preseason AP poll and more polls (seven) picked Clemson for that spot than any other. However, Clemson's average ranking was third. A consolidation of 21 preseason polls (awarding 20 points for 1st, 19 points for second, etc.) shows that Clemson had 349 points, good enough for third place behind Florida State (425) and Nebraska (356). Clemson was the consolidated preseason number-one team in 1984 and AP also ranked Clemson fourth in its preseason poll that year. That is Clemson's highest Associated Press preseason ranking ever. Three publications picked Clemson preseason number-one this year; New York Times, Pro Football Weekly and GamePlan.

Tigers Hope to Average 80,000

One of Clemson's goals this year is to average 80,000 fans for the six home games. Three weeks ago it was felt that the Virginia Tech game would be the toughest to reach the 80,000-mark because of Labor Day weekend. But Clemson had a large walk-up sale the day of the game and had 80,500 for the day. Clemson has ranked in the top 10 in attendance since 1983, the first year of the upper deck on the north side of the field in Memorial Stadium.

Clemson has never averaged 80,000 for the course of the year and never ranked in the top five in attendance. But Clemson has a chance this year with 80,000 crowds virtually assured for the rest of the year.

Last year, only Michigan, Tennessee, Ohio State and Penn State averaged over 80,000 for the season. Clemson's top finish was a number-six rating in 1986 when Clemson averaged an ACC record 78,700 fans for six home games.

Gardocki off to Good Start

Clemson freshman placekicker Chris Gardocki got his career off to a good start with two field goals and a 48-yard punt in the season opener. Gardocki scored on field goals of 43 and 38 yards to help Clemson to victory.

The native of Stone Mountain, GA, came to Clemson as a highly recruited kicker and was in fact the first-team USA Today All-America placekicker. He had five field goals over 50 yards his senior year and 12 of his 13 field goals were over 40. He also averaged 45.8 yards a punt his senior season and was at 43.2 for his career. Gardocki is a fine all-around athlete as he was the team's quarterback and was also an all-state soccer player.

Gardocki obviously will challenge to hold down both jobs at points in his Clemson career, something that is a rarity. You have to go back to 1956 to find the last Tiger who was predominantly the punter and the placekicker over a season. Charlie Bussey provided both chores on the Orange Bowl team of 1956.

Soccer on Sunday

Don't forget to come back to Clemson on Sunday afternoon for one of this season's top soccer games in the country when Clemson plays host to North Carolina. The Tigers are off to another fine start under Dr. I.M. Ibrahim as his team attempts to defend its National Championship. Sunday's game will pit the defending ACC champion (tournament winner) vs. the NCAA champion. The ACC is once again the strongest soccer conference as six of the seven ACC teams that play soccer were ranked in the preseason top 20.

Old Rivals

Furman is Clemson's oldest gridiron rival. The series dates back to the first game of Clemson football, a 14-6 Clemson win on October 28, 1896. The contest was played in Greenville and Charlie Gentry scored the first Clemson touchdown. Use that for a trivia stumper at work this week.

Clemson has a 34-10-4 lead in the series, but the two teams have not met since a 21-0 Clemson win in Memorial Stadium in the season opener of 1979, Danny Ford's first game in Death Valley as head coach of the Tigers. Clemson has won the last 22 games between the two teams. Furman has scored in double figures against Clemson just five times during the 22 games. The two teams tied in 1937, 0-0 and Furman's last win over Clemson took place in 1936, 12-0, in what is believed to be the only Clemson game ever played in a snowstorm. For more on the series between these two ancient rivals see Sam Blackman's story on page 86 of this program and Bob Bradley's column on page 120.

Career Leaders Update

With so many veteran players on this Clemson team many current Tigers will be progressing through some Clemson career leader lists at a high rate of speed. Here is an update:

Rodney Williams is 4th in passing yardage (3575); 3rd in passing attempts (546); 3rd in completions (261); 3rd in total offense (4164).

Donnell Woolford is tied for 2nd in passes broken up (30); tied for 9th in interceptions; 3rd in punt return yardage (572).

Gary Cooper is 2nd in yards per reception (18.2); tied for 22nd in total receptions.

Keith Jennings is tied for 13th in total receptions (51); 15th in total reception yardage (757).

Jeff Nunamacher

Clemson's Bashful Blocker

By Annabelle Vaughan

He looks like a football player, or maybe even like a grizzly bear. At 6-2, 300-pounds, he doesn't walk, he lumbers. He can usually be seen sporting a full beard and sometimes when he is asked a question, his answer resembles a low growl.

But he really doesn't act like most people would assume a football player would. And if you asked the people who know him the best, they would probably say he acts more like a teddy bear. He's quiet when he is around people he doesn't know very well and he hates being in the spotlight. When he came to do this interview, he brought his buddy Ty Granger along with him, just so all of the attention wouldn't be focused on him.

But no matter how much he hates the spotlight, Jeff Nunamacher is getting his share of time in it. After a banner season in 1987, Nunamacher (pronounced Noon-a-mock-er), was named to the All-ACC squad, just the third underclassman offensive lineman in Clemson history to achieve that honor.

"Jeff, was it a surprise to be chosen All-ACC?"

Nuny—"To me? Yeah."

"How did you find out about it?"

Nuny—"Oh, my mom read about it in the paper the day after the South Carolina game."

Granger—"Yeah, he got mad at his girlfriend for telling me about it!"

"But Ty is one of your best friends. Why wouldn't you want him to know about it?"

Nuny—"That would be bragging. I don't want to be bragging about it."

Nunamacher describes himself as "quiet" and "low-key." It's the description most football players use for themselves. "Yeah, but big Nuny is probably more like that than anyone else you've talked to," Granger adds. "He's telling the truth when he says it."

Nunamacher enjoys fishing in his spare time.

Although his size and comportment are a little intimidating to even the bravest among us, Nunamacher denies being an aggressive person. "Off the field, I'm not the least bit aggressive. On the field, I am. It depends on the situation."

The situation must have called for it many times last season. Nunamacher had grades in the seventies in all but two games last season. He more than doubled his knockdown block total from 1986 with 43 on his way to a consensus first-team All-ACC selection. This year, his name is on four preseason All-America teams.

"What are your favorite things to do?"

Nuny—"I like to fish, hunt a little."

"And you are from New Jersey? That doesn't seem like your typical northern thing to do."

Nuny—"We've got lakes and rivers up north, thank you! And it is typical where I come from. I live in a little town called Northbranch, right outside of Somerville."

"Do you remember the first time you ever went hunting?"

Nuny—"Yeah."

"Well, tell me about it. Did your Dad take you?"

Nuny—"Nope, I snuck out by myself. I did! I guess I was about in the fourth grade. I snuck out with a 22 single shot rifle and went hunting all by myself."

"Did you shoot anything?"

Nuny—"I can't remember. Maybe a bird. Or maybe I shot at a bird and missed."

An offensive lineman is a rare breed. They don't often get publicity, unless they get called for holding or something else negative, or if they happen to make the all-conference team.

"We don't get real emotional," said Nunamacher. "Or at least I don't. I don't really talk junk to the guys on the other teams. Maybe sometimes to our players, but never to the other teams."

Over the years since Nunamacher came to Clemson, the offensive line has been a close-knit group, probably a major reason for their great success. They fish together, hunt together, and do just about everything together.

"Tell me about the relationship between the offensive linemen."

Nuny—"We are all real good friends. The offensive linemen have been since I came here."

"Does it help you as a player to be good friends with the other guys on the line?"

Nuny—"Definitely. You know your best friends are going through it with you."

"Are these lasting friendships?"

Nuny—"Oh yeah, I'll be friends with these guys a long time after I leave Clemson."

Ty—"Tell her about the campfires, Nuny."

Nuny—"Oh yeah. On Thursday nights, a bunch of us offensive linemen used to go back in the woods or by the lake and build a campfire."

"What would you do?"

Nuny—"We wouldn't do anything. We would just sit around and talk about things and still make it back in time for curfew. After a tough week of practice we appreciate the quiet time."

"Was that not boring?"

Nuny (smiling)—"Of course. People don't appreciate leisure time the way we do. We're happy being bored."

Hopefully for the next couple of months, things will be far from boring for the Tigers. And as much as Jeff Nunamacher likes his laid-back, leisure time, he hopes so too.

"Since you like relaxing so much, do you work hard?"

Nuny—"I can't say I work hard."

Ty—"Yes he does. Big Nuny got where he is because he plays with effort. That's saying a lot. Some people have all the athletic ability in the world but don't understand effort."

"Jeff, do you understand effort?"

Nuny—"I guess a little bit of talent goes a long way with a lot of effort. Yeah, I guess I understand effort."

"What are your goals for this season?"

Nuny—"For the team, I want us to win the conference championship and then go as far as we can nationally. For myself, I don't really set big goals. Whatever happens, happens."

"Would you be disappointed if you don't make All-ACC? Will you look in the papers yourself this year?"

Nuny—"No. I would find out about it sooner or later."

"So what are you looking forward to the most this year?"

Nuny—"I'm just waiting for spring. Fishing season, you know?"

Jeff was an All-ACC tackle as a junior.

Ty Granger

Academic And Strength All-America Candidate

By Sheri West

Dedicated: "Loyal and devoted to a cause or purpose" according to the dictionary. Ty Granger gives the word new meaning. Called, "the finest 'effort player' I've ever been associated with," by offensive tackle coach Bill D'Andrea, Granger has shown what it means to work and work hard to accomplish a task. Whether on the football field, in the classroom, or in the weight room, his goal is the same: to develop the talents he's been given and use them to glorify God.

Coming out of Pickens High School in nearby Easley, SC he was a defensive tackle who had also seen action as a tight end. After redshirting a year, he saw nominal playing time in 10 of 12 games his freshman season.

In the spring of 1986 Granger was moved to offensive tackle. Although struggling with the position at first, he was called on to start nine games that fall and was honored with the CBS Toyota Leadership Award for the North Carolina game.

During his junior season Granger continued to improve. He started all but the first game of the season and averaged a grade of 73.4 by the coaches. Now a veteran of 34 games in his career, his best game was against Virginia Tech when he had seven knockdown blocks and recovered a fumble.

His accomplishments aren't restricted to the gridiron, however. Granger has succeeded in the classroom, too. He's found that schoolwork also requires time and effort—two things he's willing to invest in order to maintain his 3.21 GPR in accounting. Having been chosen Academic All-ACC the past two years, he can become the first Clemson football player since Steve Fuller to achieve this honor three times during a career. He has also won the Team Academic Achievement award each of the past two years, and with good reason. He achieved a perfect 4.0 for the spring semester last year.

A major element of football success, especially for a lineman, is strength training. Although considered a necessary chore by some, Granger has taken it as a challenge. And it has become another area in which he can shine. He was chosen a 1986 Strength All-American and voted Lifter-of-the-Year by his teammates for the 1986-87 academic year.

Says D'Andrea, "There's no reason that he couldn't be a three type All-American, being that he's a Strength All-American, is a strong candidate for Academic All-American, and hopefully will be an All-America football player on the field."

But individual honors and awards aren't Granger's goal. If they were, offensive tackle would not be the place to be. "He will work just as hard in anything he does in life, whether it be his accounting or whatever," says D'Andrea. "That's just the way he is, he's got a lot of pride about himself."

Granger's positive attitude and genuine desire to work hard and improve have made him a true leader on the team. But he's not a very verbal leader. In fact, he has a rather quiet personality. Even so, "his example permeates the whole football team," claims D'Andrea. "They know he's quiet, they know he's serious, and they know he's dedicated." In this case, actions definitely speak louder than words.

There is one instance, however, when Granger is quick to speak. That is to state that his primary motivation for working hard is in serving God. "I feel I owe God something too. He gave me everything I have so I have to give Him my best. He's put me in this position for a purpose. There is a purpose in everything we do and I might as well take every advantage I can and work as hard as I can. I only feel that's fair."

Many athletes find it difficult to deal with the stress of sports on the collegiate level and the pressure to succeed, but not Granger. He's found that being a Christian has "made it a lot easier because instead of feeling all the burden myself I can turn it over to someone else—God."

At the same time, Granger recognizes the responsibility of calling himself a Christian. "When you're a Christian, all eyes are on you and you've got to live up to that. You can't say and do something else."

Granger's thoughts of the future don't go much further than class tomorrow and next week's game. He'll graduate in May with a degree in accounting. And there is a chance for a pro career, although this early in the season it's difficult to tell how good that chance is. He is content to take each day as it comes and not get overly concerned about what he can't control.

Those who know him can assure you, though, that Granger will continue to strive to be his best. According to D'Andrea, "Because of Granger's dedication, his determination, his attitude in life and the way he approaches things, no matter what it is, he's going to give 100% effort. I will say this—Ty Granger will be very, very successful in life no matter what he does."

Granger had a 4.0 GPA in accounting last spring and is an academic All-America candidate for 1988.

WE'VE GOT SCHOOL SPIRIT!

It's hard to find a bigger booster of South Carolina's schools than Chem-Nuclear. We know there's nothing more vital to our state than giving every child a sound education.

But we're more than cheerleaders. We make a major financial contribution to our schools. Through a special tax on low-level radioactive waste disposal—paid by no other company—we send 6 million dollars a year to public education. That's enough for the salaries of about 245 teachers. We pay 12 million dollars in other state taxes and fees that support State Government, and a special business tax that we pay in Barnwell County is a major part of the school budget there. The taxes paid by Chem-Nuclear's employees on our 11 million dollar payroll also help finance schools.

No one likes taxes. But we look at our contribution to education as an investment that will pay off in skilled workers, informed citizens, and a better South Carolina.

In fact, that investment is so important to us that we do more than send a check—we get involved. Disabled students have landscaping classes on the grounds of our Barnwell facility. We transport deaf students to camp. Equipment given by Chem-Nuclear upgrades science labs at several schools. We sponsor high school economics classes through Junior Achievement. And we make substantial donations to programs for the arts.

The teachers and students of our state are a great team. The school spirit shown by Chem-Nuclear and other South Carolina companies helps make them winners.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY CENTENNIAL 1889-1989

University President

This year may be remembered not only as the year Clemson University began its second century, but also as the time when the impact of the Max Lennon era became readily apparent.

When he came to Clemson more than three years ago, Dr. Lennon brought with him some definite ideas about what was needed in order for Clemson to reach its potential: more emphasis on research and the graduate program (the university's greatest potential for growth and immediate economic impact); increased private support for academics; more effort in frontier areas of research to aid South Carolina's traditional industries; a more global perspective in both academic programs and research; and a significant state investment in higher education.

Those were the ideas; now for the reality:

- more than a 60 percent increase in research funding in a single year
- the most successful private fund-raising year ever, with more than a 40 percent increase over last year's record-breaking total
- a landmark experiment in the field of biotechnology, plus research that is breaking new ground in advanced apparel manufacturing, composites, robotics and many other areas
- the addition of international academic programs and research partnerships involving Clemson with institutions in Japan, France, Germany, Italy, Egypt, China, Israel and Great Britain, among others
- a $5-million higher education initiative called the Cutting Edge

But the Lennon agenda is far from completed. The Clemson president sees more challenges, more opportunities, ahead. At a recent address to the faculty, he said, "We must continue to look for new ways to fulfill Clemson's land-grant mission: aggressively recruiting students into areas that are exclusive to Clemson—agriculture, forestry and textiles—and that have more job opportunities than graduates, increasing minority representation in the faculty and administration as well as the student body, and making Clemson more accessible.

"As a land grant college, we have an obligation in rural development and to help eliminate the pockets of poverty and illiteracy that remain in this state. Education is the answer, and we have an obligation to make education accessible to all people."

Lennon sees Clemson as still in the process of maturing into a major, comprehensive university with a regional and national reputation in its primary mission areas—science and technology. He has worked hard to bring together the necessary support system by involving not only faculty and staff but also legislators, business leaders and alumni in determining Clemson's future. And the future looks pretty bright. "Clemson is a very exciting place to be right now," he says.

Max Lennon is a major reason Clemson realized a 60 percent increase in research funding last year.

Lennon came to Clemson from Ohio State University, where he had been executive dean for agriculture, home economics and natural resources. Lennon was also on the Ohio State Faculty Senate and was co-chairman of the Governor's commission on agriculture.

Previously, he had served as dean of the College of Agriculture, and as director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Missouri, and as associate dean and director of research in the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University.

Lennon is a native of Columbus County, N.C., and earned his bachelor's degree (1962) and doctorate from N.C. State University. He began his teaching career at N.C. State.

The Clemson president has been active in a number of civic and professional groups, ranging from his local PTA and the South Carolina Research Authority to the National Dropout Prevention Fund and the International Development Institute.

Last fall, Lennon was named to the board of trustees of the Farm Foundation, a national organization devoted to improving research and education to benefit rural areas. He will serve a four-year term as the university representative on the board, which also includes farmers, legislators and executives of leading agricultural industries.

Lennon was appointed earlier this year to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Policy Advisory Committee for Science and Education Research Grants Program by Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng, and was a keynote speaker at the AgBiotech 88 international conference in Washington.

Lennon is married to Ruth Carter Lennon and they have two children, Daniel Ray (26) and Robin (23).

Take Time Out To See Clemson

When you come to Clemson for an exciting weekend of football, sometimes it's easy to take the Clemson area and all the things to do here for granted. But when you stop and think about it, there's plenty to see and do in Clemson the whole year round.

Rich history, a wonderful climate, beautiful Lake Hartwell and the scenic Blue Ridge Mountains provide the perfect backdrop for sightseeing, eating out, seeing a show, shopping, and an endless variety of outdoor activities.

You'll be comfortable during your stay. Accommodations in the area range from cozy nineteenth-century bed and breakfast inn to a variety of modern hotels. And area restaurants feature everything from upcountry cookin' to fine cosmopolitan cuisine.

So make plans to really see Clemson, during football season--or any other time of year. No matter what the season, we guarantee you'll want to come again.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY CENTENNIAL 1889-1989

Bobby Robinson

Athletic Director

On March 9, 1985, Clemson University named Bobby Robinson as the ninth athletic director in the school's 96-year history. And since that time, success and prosperity are the words that best describe Robinson's program.

Robinson has had significant successes as a result of his great commitment to being the best in three areas—competition, academics, and facilities. The past three years' results provide evidence of the program's placement among the best in competition, and also prove significant strides are being made in the other two areas.

The 1987 version of the football program will long be remembered for its 10-2 record and the 35-10 Florida Citrus Bowl victory over Penn State. The Tigers finished 10th in the final AP poll, the seventh Top 20 ranking in the past 11 years.

Both major revenue sports, football and men's basketball, were involved in postseason play. In fact, out of 18 sports offered at Clemson, 15 were involved in some sort of postseason play.

The Men's basketball program participated in the NIT, as Cliff Ellis guided the Tigers to their fourth consecutive postseason appearance—the first time in the history of ACC basketball that a team has entered postseason play in the first four years under a new coach. The Lady Tiger basketball team made the NCAA tournament field under first-year coach Jim Davis and had an ACC record 13-game improvement over the previous year.

The surprise story of 1987-88 was the Clemson Tiger soccer team. Seeded 23rd out of 24 teams in the NCAA tournament, the Tigers swept through the field to earn the right to play host to the Final Four. Over 8,300 Tiger fans watched as Clemson defeated San Diego State 2-1 for its second national championship in four years.

Clemson's baseball team won an ACC record tying 54 games and finished 15th in the final poll, while the Clemson golf team was 17th and won the ACC title for the second straight year.

Clemson's men's tennis team was 10th ranked and won its ninth ACC title in 10 years, while the outdoor track team was tied for 15th, its highest NCAA finish ever.

All four teams received bids to the NCAA and finished in the top 20, making Clemson and Texas the only two schools with this honor.

The success of these teams gave Clemson the honor of a number-eight ranking in men's sports and number-28 in women's sports in the Knoxville Journal's All-Sports poll. Ten Clemson teams were ranked in the final top 20.

In academics, Clemson student-athletes had another outstanding year. Ninety-seven young men and women had 3.0 or better grade point averages each semester, with seven earning a perfect 4.0 GPA. The football team had two players named to the academic All-ACC team, and four students were named to various Academic All-America teams. Over 30 former Tiger student-athletes received college degrees in the past 12 months.

The commitment to success in academics is further confirmed by the decision to build an academic learning center for student-athletes. Encompassing over 16,000 square feet, the center will feature classrooms, learning labs, and an auditorium, as well as office space for the athletic advising staff, which now has three full-time staff members.

In the area of facilities, Robinson has a record of success and accomplishments second to none. Capital improvements include the indoor tennis facility and the soccer stadium, with the learning center and completion of the baseball stadium scheduled for 1989. Major renovations recently completed include the golf practice area, cross country trail, stadium locker rooms, wrestling practice room, and football coaches meeting rooms. A complete maintenance and irrigation system has also been implemented for all practice fields.

Renovations under way include the new IPTAY/ticket complex at Gate 9 at the football stadium, a nine-lane all-weather track, Jervey Center offices and gymnasium, as well as the coliseum dressing rooms. Without a doubt, Clemson athletic facilities are among the finest in the country.

Administratively, Robinson has instituted policies and procedures that benefit all constituents. Among the changes are the drug testing program, the Student Athlete Assistance Program (SAAP), a staff Policies and Procedures Manual, computerization of the department, the pro agents seminar, as well as the athletic academic scholarship endowment.

From a university perspective, Robinson envisions the athletic department as being one of 49 campus departments, serving a viable role to the mission of Clemson University. "Athletic competition provides a common bond for students, faculty, staff, and friends," according to Robinson.

Under the direction of Robinson, the athletic department continues to support the university. Over $900,000 have been contributed to the athletic academic scholarship fund; and band travel equipment and uniforms are funded by athletic dollars. An educational enhancement fund has been coordinated through the efforts of the athletic department and the Athletic Council.

With Robinson's qualifications, it is easy to see why the Clemson athletic program enjoys continued success—he has done it all. He has been an administrator at all levels, he has worked in other areas of the university, he has been a head coach, and he has handled the budgetary aspects needed to run a $12 million program.

Robinson has confidence in his staff, his coaches, his athletes, and the facilities at Clemson University. "We have a solid base to work from, but if we are not moving forward, we are losing ground. We will work within university guidelines and expand our horizons. We want to be as good as we can as a vital part of the university and the state of South Carolina."

Robinson was graduated from Furman with a B.S. degree in business and political science in 1968. He was the president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity chapter at Furman.

Robinson came to Clemson in 1970, not in athletics, but in the housing office. After three years, he moved across campus to serve as an administrative assistant in the athletic department.

After serving the athletic department in various capacities, he became business manager in 1975. Two years later he was named assistant athletic director, and in 1980, he became associate AD. He held that title for four years, and his area of responsibility moved to primarily football and basketball.

While serving his administrative duties, Robinson found time to coach the Clemson golf team between 1975 and 1983. During his time as the head coach, Clemson won its first ACC title in golf and three times the Tigers participated in the NCAA tournament. In 1983, his final season as the head coach, he guided Clemson to a number-five finish. Robinson is now a member of the NCAA golf committee and is a member of the CFA Board of Directors.

Head Coach Danny Ford

Danny Ford has spent many years following in the footsteps of legends. As a player and young coach, he worked under the tutelage of the legendary Bear Bryant. Later at Clemson, he stepped into the position once held by "The Legend" himself, Frank Howard.

Last season, Ford led his team to one of the winningest records in Clemson history. He also took his team to the Citrus Bowl where he challenged another legend, Joe Paterno. It was his sixth bowl trip in only nine years as a head coach and his fourth bowl victory in those six trips. All nine years as head coach, his teams have had winning regular season records. With a mark like that, Danny Ford also could soon win the right to be called a legend.

Ford's legacy of success did not begin when he became a head coach, it has followed through his entire affiliation with the game of football. Overall, he has been involved with 20 winning regular seasons in his 21 years of football, and his teams have won over 74 percent of the time.

Danny Ford and Joe Paterno are both ranked among the top six winningest active coaches in Division I.

His success as a head coach is not only evident in his win-loss record, but also in the relationships he has with his players, past and present. He is admired and respected by his players and they enjoy playing for him. This respect is well deserved when you take a look at the list of accomplishments over the past nine seasons:

1. Sixth winningest active coach in America.
2. Only coach in ACC history with over a 70 percent winning percentage, he is currently at .743.
3. Has coached Clemson in six bowl games.
4. Clemson has won four ACC titles during his tenure (81, 82, 86, 87).
5. Has coached five teams that have finished in the final AP Top 20.
6. Has coached 56 All-ACC players, 23 All-Americans and 38 of his former players have been NFL draftees.

This list would be impressive with anyone's name on it, but considering the fact that Ford just turned 40 on April 2, it is phenomenal. Ford's most significant accomplishment, winning the 1981 National Championship, was attained when he was only 33-years-old. Clemson's rising legend is the youngest coach in the history of the college game to win the Associated Press National Championship.

Ford has recently reached another milestone, he is now the winningest coach in the history of the Atlantic Coast Conference on a percentage basis. He is already seventh in total wins among ACC coaches. These wins have not been easy ones. Instead, they have come against fierce competition. Ford has already gained more wins over AP top 20 teams and top 10 teams than any other coach in Clemson history.

Ford has established a new era in football at Clemson University, creating one of the most solid programs in the nation. Now in his 10th full season with the Tigers, his record of 76-25-4 (.743) is the sixth best winning percentage in college football among active coaches. Additionally, Clemson also has the sixth best winning percentage in the nation over the last 10 years. Clemson is the only team in the nation to win a bowl game, a conference championship and finish in the top 20 of the AP poll each of the last two years.

After examining Ford's football past, it is difficult to imagine him as anything but successful. Another in a long line of former Bear Bryant players that have gone on to greatness in coaching, Ford played for the Bear between 1967 and 1969.

Ford is the ACC's winningest coach on a percentage basis.

He was Kenny Stabler's tight end in 1967 when he started as a sophomore. He played tight end again in 1968 and moved to offensive tackle in 1969. Ford started all three years, was all-conference in 1969 and played on three teams that went to bowl games. In 1969 he was also a member of the All-SEC academic team, and served as captain of the Alabama squad. Ford also played freshman basketball at Alabama.

After Pat Dye's coaxing, Ford remained at Alabama as a graduate assistant for the 1970 and 1971 season. After earning a B.S. degree in Industrial Arts, he received a master's degree in Special Education in 1971. In 1972 and 1973, Ford was a full-time assistant for the Bear. During these four years, the Crimson Tide went to four bowl games with Ford as an assistant.

Ford left Alabama for Virginia Tech where he was an assistant under Jimmy Sharpe for three seasons (1974-76). In 1977, Clemson came calling and Ford joined the coaching staff as an offensive line coach. Only 23 games later, at the age of 30, Ford was named the Tigers' head coach, making him the youngest active Division 1 coach in the country.

In The Long Run

Knowing you're the best you can be. Knowing the effort, sweat and determination pays off with personal satisfaction and good health. Though it's a never-ending challenge, the reward – feeling good and feeling good about yourself – makes it all worthwhile.

At Blue Cross and Blue Shield of South Carolina and the Companion Group of Companies, we're constantly striving to be the best we can be. Working hard to deliver top-quality health insurance and related services like life insurance, property and casualty insurance, health maintenance organization coverage, financial management and more.

Our strength is obvious in a number of ways – financial stability, corporate citizenship in the community, dependability, state of the art operations and a myriad of products and services. But our true strength can only be measured in the satisfaction you feel, knowing Blue Cross and Companion are the best we can be for you ... in the long run.

Emergency Services

The Clemson University Athletic Department provides the following for your safety and emergency medical needs:

1. Advanced cardiac life-support stations in four locations. (North stands, Upper North deck, South stands, Upper South deck). These units are staffed with skill-care nurses, physicians, cardiologists, internists, paramedics, and EMTs.

2. Mobile units of EMTs and paramedics are strategically located throughout the entire stadium.

3. Ambulances with life-support equipment are available in North stand and South stand areas and have prearranged routes for evacuation to local hospitals.

Learn to recognize these personnel and facilities.

WHAT TO DO IF EMERGENCIES ARISE

Please step back and give the organized stadium EMS personnel room to work. Well-intentioned attempts to help by untrained persons interfere with the efficiency of the EMS system. If you have basic or advanced training in specific life-support methods, make your qualifications known and offer your help. Untrained personnel can be frequently more harmful than helpful.

MEDICAL ADVICE FOR FANS

If you have a pre-existing medical or health problem, please check with your personal physician and obtain his advice before attending games. Many emergencies occurring at the stadium do so because of prior existing conditions. Use common sense in dressing, eating, drinking and physical exertion. Be certain that you have identification on you as to the diagnosis and what medications you are currently taking.

Be aware of warning signs of heart attacks: chest pain, chest tightness, shortness of breath, sweating, palpitations, fainting, nausea and vomiting.

Recognize that our most common serious medical problems at football games are heart attacks and allergic reactions to insect stings. Be aware that insect stings will always be very frequent at outdoor sporting events and should always be treated with immediate ice until advice can be obtained. If you have ever had a reaction to a bee or other insect sting, check with your personal physician as to whether you should carry a kit.

The stadium emergency phone number is (803) 656-2999.

Clemson Coaches

The 1987-88 Tiger athletes continued the winning ways of previous Clemson teams. From a soccer national championship in the fall to NCAA appearances by four teams last spring (men's tennis, baseball, track and golf), Clemson was successful throughout the year.

The Tigers claimed five ACC championships during the past academic year. The football team went on to a 35-10 victory over Penn State in the Citrus Bowl. Clemson's women's swimmers finished the season with a perfect 9-0 record and repeated as the fifth ranked team in the nation. Also winning the conference was the men's tennis team, which competed in the NCAA tournament. In addition to these ACC tournament champs, Clemson's baseball squad ended the regular season on top of the conference standings.

ACC Coach-of-the-Year honors went to Bill Cason (men's cross country), Bob Boettner (women's swimming), and Bill Wilhelm (baseball). Five of last year's conference MVP's and four Academic All-Americans came from Clemson. Tiger teams produced 22 All-America athletes, as Clemson finished the year with 10 different sports ranked among the nation's top 20.

= ACC '88

As millions of loyal fans file through stadium turnstiles from Atlanta to College Park this Fall, many millions more will be following the television cameras of Jefferson-Pilot Teleproductions, the most intense sports rivalries in the East unfold — ACC Football.

We're proud to begin our fifth consecutive season of bringing you a full schedule of gridiron drama that has made Atlantic Coast Conference football a regional tradition.

We're part of the Jefferson-Pilot family of companies. And whether it's protecting families with life insurance or entertaining them on radio and television, our commitment to quality, in business and in life, remains the same.

So, as the passion and the pageantry of one of America's most exciting sports spectacles unfold across some of the country's most beautiful campuses, all of us at Jefferson-Pilot Teleproductions wish each ACC member the very best of luck. And we invite everyone to enjoy the action with us.

The first thing to check when buying a new house is the yard.

If there's an SCE&G Good Cents sign in the yard, then you know the house is going to be both energy efficient and comfortable to live in. In fact, a Good Cents home even qualifies for a lower electric rate. Before you buy, look for the Good Cents sign outside, you'll be a lot happier with what you find inside.

COACH FRANK HOWARD: A True Legend

60 Minute Videotape

At last a video biography of Clemson University and South Carolina's most unique sports personality with Coach Howard's wit sprinkled generously throughout.

Game films highlight his coaching career from 1930 thru 1969.

Visits from former players from 1930 thru 1969 as well as coaches, game officials and others.

Biographically, a sketch of his boyhood days at Barlow Bend through his student days in Mobile, Alabama and finally the University of Alabama focusing on his many years at Clemson University.

Now Only $49.50

A Must For Any Clemson Fan

Where Is Clemson?

Clemson is in the middle of it all. You are in easy driving distance to the big city, Atlanta, GA, where pro sports, night life and other activities abound. Charlotte, NC is two hours north of Clemson and is one of the top 10 growth areas in the nation. Pro basketball and the new Charlotte Coliseum will bring many activities to this city. For sun and fun at the beach, it is an easy interstate drive to Hilton Head Island and Myrtle Beach, the gathering place for college students all over the Carolinas during spring and summer vacations.

And, if you just want to go to the beach for the day, you just have to go across campus. What could be more convenient? Lake Hartwell and its 960 miles of shoreline are right at the edge of campus. Water skiing and all kinds of other water sports are available on this beautiful lake that has countless beach areas available to students. This is the site of a number of special events year round, including the Bengal Ball, which welcomes spring to Clemson on a Saturday afternoon of fun at the "Y" Beach.

The winter does not bring much snow to Clemson, but a few miles to the north in the mountains of North Carolina, are many fine ski slopes and resorts. The mild climate of the upstate in South Carolina makes it a haven for all kinds of sportsmen. Fishermen, hunters, water skiiers, rafting enthusiasts, and golfers can find a place to enjoy their sports in the Clemson area.

For history buffs, the Clemson area is loaded to the hilt with landmarks. The Old Stone Church in Clemson, St. Paul's and the village square in Pendleton are only a few of the many historical sites in the area. In fact, the entire town of Pendleton, only a mile away from the Clemson campus, is on the National Register of Historic Places.

Each year the city and the university combine to play host to a Welcome Back Festival.

1987-88 In Review

Clemson Claimed 10 Top 20 Teams In 1987-88

By Annabelle Vaughan

Football was not the only sport in the Clemson athletic program that enjoyed success during the 1987-88 academic year. Ten of Clemson's 18 athletic teams finished in the top 20 of their respective sports last year, while two others finished in the top 22 in final dual meet polls. The Tigers also won five ACC Championships (football, men's cross country, women's swimming, men's tennis, and golf).

In addition, the Clemson men's all-around sports program finished eighth in The Knoxville Journal's annual all-sports poll. This marks the seventh straight year that Clemson has ranked in the top 15, and the 12th time in the last 13 years Clemson has been in the top 25. The number-eight finish was Clemson's sixth top 10 ranking in the last 10 years.

The Tiger football team got the year off to a good start when a last second field goal defeated the Georgia Bulldogs, giving Clemson back-to-back victories against its archrival.

Danny Ford's team won the conference championship with a 45-16 win over the Maryland Terrapins.

The Tigers went on to a postseason appearance in the Citrus Bowl where they defeated Penn State, 35-10, and earned a number-10 final ranking in the UPI poll and a number-12 ranking in the AP. The season marked the first time in Clemson history that a football squad was ranked in the top 20 in every Associated Press poll during the season.

Michael Dean Perry, Donnell Woolford, David Treadwell, and John Phillips were all named to various All-America teams, while seven players earned All-ACC honors, more than any other ACC school.

The Clemson soccer team surprised the nation by winning its second national championship in four years. The Tigers went into the NCAA finals seeded 23rd out of a field of 24 teams and went on to defeat San Diego State for the national title, which was held in the new soccer stadium on the Clemson campus. Bruce Murray won the prestigious Hermann Award, the highest honor in collegiate soccer, and was named All-American along with teammate Paul Rutenis. These two players, along with James Rootes, were also named all-conference. Rootes was also honored with first-team Academic All-America honors.

In men's basketball, Cliff Ellis took his team to its fourth postseason appearance in his first four years at Clemson. This marks the first time in ACC history that a coach has achieved this goal. Clemson ended the regular season on a positive note by defeating eighth-ranked Duke and 13th-ranked Georgia Tech back-to-back. The Tigers then advanced to the NIT. Senior Grayson Marshall found a place in the record books by becoming the ACC's career assist leader.

The Clemson baseball team tied a school record for victories with 54 and also established a record for winning percentage. The Tigers finished first in the conference in the regular season before advancing to the NCAA tournament. Eight players from the 15th-ranked team were named either first or second-team all-conference, while two, Bert Heffernan and Brian Barnes, won All-America honors.

The women's basketball team was the Comeback team of the Year for the Tigers. Jim Davis took over a 7-21 team and led Clemson to a 21-9 record and a number-20 final ranking. Karen Ann Jenkins was an all-conference performer and led the ACC in field goal percentage with a 56.9 percentage.

The women's swimming team became Clemson's first undefeated team in any sport since the 1981 football squad. Bob Boettner's team was 9-0 in the regular season, won the ACC meet and finished fifth at the NCAA finals. The team had the most All-Americans in the athletic program with eight.

The spring sports programs were especially successful, as Clemson saw all four of its men's teams advance to NCAA tournaments and finished in the top 20. Clemson and Texas were the only teams in the nation to have all four spring sports teams finish in the top 20.

The men's track program also enjoyed a successful year in cross country, indoor and outdoor competition. The men's cross country squad won the conference championship and placed 11th at the NCAAs. The women's cross country team, led by Michelle Kalikin, finished its season ranked 13th in the nation. Kalikin was the top finisher for the Lady Harriers in every meet of the cross country season.

Freshman Yehezkel Halifa won indoor All-America honors in the 3000 meters, and earned a second All-America certificate at the NCAA outdoor championships in the 10000 meters. All three Clemson athletes participating in the NCAA outdoor meet, Halifa, Dov Kremer, and Terrence Herrington, won All-America honors and earned the Tigers a tie for 15th in the national rankings.

In golf, the Tigers won the conference championship for the second year in a row. Clemson won four tournaments in the spring, breaking the school record for tourney titles in a year. The squad boasted two All-Americans and three all-conference athletes. The golfers also had two academic All-Americans, more than any other team at Clemson.

The men's tennis squad won another conference title for the Tigers and was ranked 10th in the nation. Two Tiger netters won all-conference honors.

Louise Greenwood helped the Lady Tigers to a Top 20 ranking.

Mike Milchin was a key to Clemson's ACC record 54 baseball wins.

Jeff Bak

Clemson's Center Deserves Attention

By Sam Blackman

"We are just the seven mules. We do all the work so that these four fellows can gallop into fame."

This was a 1924 quote by Adam Walsh, one of the linemen that blocked for the famed Four Horsemen at Notre Dame.

Although football has changed since the 1920s, Clemson's senior center Jeff Bak and Walsh have something in common; both have provided great blocking that led the way for successful teams.

And in this sense, linemen are sometimes forgotten as their role is buried under the headlines of outstanding backs. But, Jeff Bak does not let this interfere with his task at hand.

"Although linemen don't get the recognition that backs do, people in general know that linemen and good fundamental blocking are an invaluable part of the team," said Bak.

Even though linemen are sometimes forgotten in the headlines, there are other intangible medals to pursue.

"Each week our team picks a Lineman-of-the-Week and in this way you are recognized by your peers. But most importantly, when you get praise from the coaches and you watch yourself on film providing a hole for a back, it makes it worthwhile."

His 1969 GTO is his most prized possession.

The Darien, CT native could be described as a dependable player as he has played in 37 straight games and has started in the last 25 contests. He needs only six starts to become Clemson's all-time leader in starts by a Tiger center. He could set the record for games played in a career if he plays in every game this season.

This dependability and his attitude has earned him the reputation of a team player among the coaching staff and fellow players—something he values.

"I feel I can be relied upon by coaches and the players. You must approach football with the attitude of 'you will never be perfect, but strive for perfection.' No matter how good you are, there is always someone that is better. You do not want to be too satisfied with your progress. Instead, you always want to make yourself better."

Bak is also persistent in his outside interests off the football field. "I have a '69 GTO convertible. I like old classic cars, but the strangest thing about this car is that I am the only one in my family who will drive it. The rest of my family is afraid to drive it, because it doesn't seem to drive well for anyone else but me. My family wishes I would get rid of it since it is not reliable for them, but I happen to like the car and it's fun to drive."

Serving as a reliable center is a difficult chore. Of course, the number-one priority is getting the ball to the quarterback and then blocking. A player has to be consistent and reliable with the snap each play, for a mistake could cost the team a game. "I guess the position of center was made for me. I have played the position since I was in grade school."

Not only did Bak play on the offensive side of the ball, but he was also an outstanding defensive player as well in high school. For his career, he had 133 solo tackles, seven interceptions, one touchdown and 350 successful offensive blocks. Truly an outstanding athlete and it is little wonder that he is playing center.

"The center is the most important place on the offensive line," said Larry Van Der Heyden, offensive line coach. "There is no question—Bak is the best center in the ACC. If you take a look at his stats you will find this out. We have won two ACC titles and won two bowl games with him at starting center. Jeff has been our leader. He makes calls on the line for blocking and he sets the tempo. He does a fantastic job, and as far as his work habits and attitude, you cannot get any better."

Bak holds the Clemson bench-press record.

Weight training is another area where Jeff has excelled. "Weight training is something I can do to improve weaknesses. Lifting helps me improve my strength and helps me play heavier (from 255 in 1987 to 265 in 1988). It gives me confidence and has been a key to my play."

"Jeff is consistently intense with his workouts," said Clemson Strength Coach Gary Wade. "He does a great job in the weight room and trains hard to improve. He takes lifting serious and is all business in the weight room. He is a great example for our younger players."

As far as future plans, Jeff wants a shot at professional football, but if this does not work out, he wants to enter the business world.

"Everybody that plays wants to play professional football. I will graduate this spring with a degree in administrative management and if professional football doesn't work out, I want to enter the business world and have a new challenge."

Although Jeff Bak is not always the center of attention with the media, he is at the center of the Tigers' success. He is truly a modern day Adam Walsh.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY CENTENNIAL 1889-1989

Today's Band Program

By Dave Mullaney

This is Parents' Day on the Clemson University campus as the Tigers play host to the Paladins of Furman. And in honor of this afternoon's festivities, the recipient of Tiger Brotherhood's Mother-Of-The-Year award will have the honor of dotting the "I" as the Tiger Band forms script "Tigers" and plays "The Song That Shakes The Southland," Tiger Rag.

The recipient of this year's award, Louise Willimon, has been a friend to Clemson University for years. Her husband, Eugene (Class of '33), was the Executive Secretary of IPTAY for 27 years (1950-77). Along with her husband of 51 years, she has had a son, son-in-law, brother-in-law, two granddaughters and nine nieces or nephews that have attended or currently attend Clemson.

An IPTAY scholarship donor and life member since 1977, she has been actively involved in the March of Dimes, the Clemson University Woman's Club, and as a Board Member of the Clemson Downs Volunteers. She also served as the advisor for the Chi Omega Sorority for 17 years, a post she resigned from in January.

After the Tiger Band opens its pregame show by playing "Sock it to 'em," Mrs. Willimon will then dot the "I" as the Tiger Band plays Tiger Rag.

The pregame show continues as the Tiger Band plays "You're a Grande Ole Flag," and "America the Beautiful," directed by Dr. Richard E. Goodstein and accompanied by the Clemson University Chorus.

The invocation will then be offered by Deb Grant of the Clemson Campus Ministers Association and the University Lutheran Church.

Directed by Dr. Bruce Cook, the Tiger Band will next play "The Star-Spangled Banner," with company C-4 of the Pershing Rifles presenting the colors. The chorus and band will then lead the Tiger faithful in the Alma Mater, directed by Dr. Mark Jessie.

The Furman University Marching Band will open the halftime festivities. Directed by Jay Bocook and associates, Dan Ellis and John Beckford, they will enter the field to "Make His Praise Glorious," arranged by Jay Bocook. "Malaguena" will be the Furman Band's concert feature.

Leslie Gilreath is the Furman University Marching Band's drum major. The drill patterns were designed by David Cudd, with the percussion coordinated by Barry Reese, also the Easley High School Band Director.

The Tiger Band's halftime show features the music of the immortal George Gershwin. The Clemson Band will open with "Strike Up The Band," from the 1930 show by the same name, with the arrangement by Ken Dye.

"Rhapsody In Blue" will be the Tiger Band's concert feature. Written in the 1920s for a jazz band conducted by Paul Whiteman, with Gershwin, himself, as the piano soloist, it had a much jazzier sound than the present-day version.

The percussion and flag corps are featured in the Tiger Band's version, arranged by visiting band director Jay Bocook, with percussion parts written by Barry Reese.

The Tiger Band will close its halftime performance with "Summertime," from Gershwin's 1935 folk opera "Porgy and Bess."

With today's celebration of Parents' Day, it should be pointed out that four current members of the Tiger Band have parents who are alumni of TB. Feature twirler Shannon Fogle's mother, JoAnne, was a feature twirler with the Tiger Band in the 1960s. Her father, Lou, played football for Clemson.

Shannon Amick's father, Randy, was a member of Tiger Band in the 1960s. Shannon plays the clarinet and hails from Lexington, SC.

Band Commander Davey Shull's father, Davis, was a member of Tiger Band, as was Beth Sherer's father, Richard. Shull is from Wagner, SC, and Sherer is a native of York, SC.

Tiger Band's halftime show features the music of George Gershwin.

INTRODUCING THE

Clemson Heritage Plate Collection

★ CELEBRATING CLEMSON'S CENTENNIAL ★ 1889 - 1989 ★

"An official Licensed Product of Clemson University." Support the Alumni Association and Clemson Athletics through the purchase of this plate.

The Clemson University campus is one of genuine beauty and history . . . a rich, colorful mix of old and new . . . wide vistas, narrow paths and classic structures.

The campus radiates from the historic John C. Calhoun mansion to beautiful Lake Hartwell on the west, and to the colorful botanical gardens on the east. Between are the revered landmarks!

Capturing the Spirit

Artist Barrie Van Osdell, best known for paintings that embrace the historical spirit of architectural subjects, has captured all the beauty and charm of Clemson's most remembered campus scenes.

These exquisite paintings featuring Clemson's four most historic homes and buildings, are being reproduced in the finest bone china collectors plates.

Acquire "Tillman Hall" Now

The first plate featuring Tillman Hall is available now. Clemson heritage plates featuring the John C. Calhoun Mansion, Sikes Hall and the Hanover House will be offered each quarter.

Same Number Guarantee

As an owner of "Tillman Hall" collectors plate, you are guaranteed the right — but are never obligated — to acquire the three subsequent editions. And, if you do acquire additional plates we guarantee that each of the plates you order will be inscribed with your own personal number.

A Treasured Heirloom

We are confident the Clemson heritage plate collection will provide warm remembrances for you and your family in the years to come, and will become treasured heirlooms in your home.

Made of Finest Bone China

Clemson heritage fine bone china collectors plates are manufactured by one of the nation's oldest and most respected china makers, the Pickard China Company, Inc., founded 1894, and measure a full 10¼" in diameter. They are bordered with a richly decorated band of 24 Karat gold. Each issue of fifteen hundred (1500) will be signed and numbered by the artist and will be accompanied by a same numbered certificate of authenticity.

30 Day Money Back Guarantee

The Clemson heritage plate collection's 100% buy-back guarantee assures that you may return the plate for full refund — if returned in perfect condition within 30 days after receipt.

See/Order "Tillman Hall" at Campus Heritage, Highway 76, Sandy Springs, South Carolina or order by phone, 1-800-852-0919

Stats And Stuff

By Tim Bourret

Rules Changes for 1988

The NCAA has adopted a rule that will give defensive teams an opportunity to score two points on point-after-touchdown tries and has deleted the rule that prohibited the same team from taking consecutive timeouts.

Under the former rule, the point-after-touchdown opportunity ended if the defensive team gained possession of the ball.

This rule does create a problem. In most situations it is to the offensive team's advantage to commit a foul. Here is the situation: Florida State scores on the last play of the game to tie Clemson 24-24. The Seminoles line up to kick the game-winning point, but James Lott blocks the kick. Donnell Woolford picks it up and streaks toward the other goal line. Sammie Smith has the angle on him, but the only way he can stop Woolford is to dive for his facemask and make the tackle at the two-yard line (in bounds). The referee throws a flag. You make the call.

According to the rule, a penalty by the kicking team on a defensive team's runback of a missed conversion will be assessed on the next kickoff. If there is no time left, there is no kickoff, so the game ends. Thus it would be to Sammie Smith's and Florida State's advantage to commit the personal foul and prohibit Clemson from winning 26-24. In fact, most coaches should tell their players to illegally tackle a player on a runback of a missed conversion because any coach would take his chances kicking off from the 25 instead of giving up two sure points.

Anything short of coming off the sidelines that is. If a player comes off the sidelines to make a tackle the offended team is awarded the two points.

Statistics Hold True

A few years ago we published a stat that correlated Clemson's winning percentage to whether or not Danny Ford's wife, Deborah, was pregnant. In 1985 she was pregnant with now three-year-old son Lee and the Tigers had a 6-6 season. At that time it was determined that Clemson had a 50 percent winning mark in seasons in which she was pregnant and 80 percent when she was not.

Well, here is the update. Mrs. Ford has not been pregnant since having Lee in 1985. When Clemson defeated Virginia Tech on September 3, Clemson moved to 19-4-2 over the last two seasons plus one game, exactly an 80-percent winning mark.

Hatcher's Busy Schedule

Clemson defensive end Jesse Hatcher is a member of the National Guard. One weekend a month he serves as a military police officer in Thomson, GA (his hometown). This duty continues during the season. Last year, for example, he played the South Carolina game in Columbia, then drove half the night to Georgia, and without rest, began his service commitment. Sunday night he returned to Clemson. This year he will have his first marathon weekend when Clemson plays Florida State.

Four Straight Bowls for Tigers?

Clemson made its third straight postseason bowl appearance last year and its 14th bowl appearance overall. It marked the third time that Clemson had been to three straight bowls. The 1988 team will have a chance to establish a new record with four straight and become the first group of seniors to go to a bowl each season of their respective careers. Danny Ford is 4-2 in bowl games and, until last year's win over Penn State, the scores had been close. In fact, just two total points separated Clemson and opponents in bowl games under Ford (97-95), until last year's squad defeated the Nittany Lions, 35-10. Raymond Chavous (DT) and Rodney Williams (QB) have a chance to be the first defensive and offensive players in Clemson history to start four bowl games.

Cohesive Clemson Staff

The Clemson football staff returns intact for its third straight season together in 1988, quite an unusual streak of consistency and longevity in the world of college coaching. With Head Coach Danny Ford in his 10th full season at the Clemson helm, his assistants are:

Tom Harper, defensive linemen, 8th year
Miles Aldridge, inside linebackers, 4th year
Wayne Bolt, tight ends and kickoff returns team, 3rd year
Jack Crowe, quarterbacks, 3rd year
Bill D'Andrea, offensive tackles, 5th year
Woody McCorvey, wide receivers, 6th year
Bill Oliver, defensive backs, 3rd year
Chuck Reedy, running backs, 11th year
Larry Van Der Heyden, offensive line, 10th year
Tommy West, outside linebackers, 7th year

Raymond Chavous could become Clemson's first defensive player to start four bowl games.

Activity Abounds

A Clemson football player spends only about two percent of his time in Memorial Stadium and on the practice fields during his career. Instead, the dormitory is the center of his social activities. The friendships of dorm life are something an athlete will always remember.

Clemson football players live in Mauldin Hall, a brick building with an aesthetically pleasing landscape located in the center of campus. There are gamerooms and television lounges within the dorm that foster relationships throughout his career. Dorm rooms are spacious and air-conditioned, containing a study area with plenty of room for television and stereo equipment.

Located at the bottom of the horseshoe, one of the centers of campus activity, Mauldin Hall is just minutes from the training table, the Student Union, Redfern Health Center, Fike Recreation Center, many outdoor basketball courts and other facilities, and the buildings that house most of the academic classes.

The Student Union, located right across campus, is the site of over 600 varied activities each year. It contains gamerooms, lounges, refreshments and other activities. Nearby are also the campus post office and bookstore.

Littlejohn Coliseum, home court of the Tigers basketball team, is also the site of many entertaining concerts presented by the Union. In recent seasons, Bill Cosby, Dolly Parton, Kenny Rogers, George Burns and Bob Hope have all performed in addition to many top musical groups.

Downtown Clemson is also within walking distance of the football dorm. College Avenue, the town's main street, contains a variety of specialty shops and restaurants. Further down the street are churches of all denominations and a movie theater.

So you can see, football is not the only activity a football player is involved in at Clemson. There is plenty of time for other aspects of an athlete's life to grow. From spiritual to entertainment, to dating to just getting away from it all in the many quiet corners of campus, Clemson has something for everyone.

Clemson Memorial Stadium

Just before Jess Neely left for Rice University, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need."

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing—there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow; and grow and grow.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron moved on to be a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the building of the stadium including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete was being poured. The story claims the tobacco is still there.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid the sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through. I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more weeks' pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through.

"After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled—the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to approximately 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillian. After bringing his P.C. teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillian said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later, the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Athletic Director Bobby Robinson says that Memorial Stadium has many features which make it a top facility. "One thing that makes it so good is the number of sideline seats," he says. "We don't think there is a bad seat in the house.

"We also have outstanding dressing rooms, press facilities, and ample parking nearby. A unique feature of the stadium is the number of private boxes."

Rick Brewer, an official in the University athletic ticket office says that despite the stadium's large size, there are still season ticket problems. "When the second upper deck was built, we thought it would take care of everything," he said. "To our dismay, it hasn't. We've filled the upper decks and have moved season ticket holders into the end zone, which are not permanent seats."

Despite the apparent ticket crunch, Robinson says there are no immediate plans to further expand the stadium. "Before we expand we'll have to show over an extended length of time—like five to seven years—that we can sell out what we have now," he said. "We don't want supply to greatly exceed demand. Even though it's hard to get tickets now, we still get people in our stadium. The ticket means more if its harder to get."

But, if Memorial Stadium is expanded again and capacity is pushed closer to 100,000, there will be room for the construction over the west stands, enclosing that end like a horseshoe.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Clemson has increased its capacity by about 25,000 over the last 10 years, not to mention countless other aesthetic improvements.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY CENTENNIAL 1889-1989

Chamber of Commerce

Clemson Is In Season, Every Season

By Bob Ellis

Clemson is a town where thousands live like millions aspire to live. So says Clemson Mayor Larry Abernathy.

Abernathy makes that boast with good reason. As the Greater Clemson Chamber of Commerce's theme states, Clemson is "in season, every season."

And one of the most popular seasons in Clemson is football season. Summer's heat is winding down, there's a slight chill in the night air and the leaves are turning brilliant shades.

Almost 80,000 football fans, most of them clad in orange, bring their families, station wagons and lots of good food to prepare for the Clemson Tigers to take on their opponent.

But the day's not over when the Tigers leave the field. It's dinner time, and Clemson's wide array of restaurants offer real treats for the hungry fans. The city and surrounding area boast 53 eateries, ranging from gourmet cuisine to fast food.

After dinner, you might want to stay the night and enjoy the area's Sunday attractions. That's no problem because Clemson offers some of the best hotel accommodations in upstate South Carolina. These accommodations range from the banquet and conference facilities of the Ramada Inn to Lake Hartwell access for boaters at the Holiday Inn.

Sunday afternoon is a good time to delve into the past. On the Clemson University campus sit two historic homes—Fort Hill, the residence of South Carolina statesman John C. Calhoun and CU founder Thomas Green Clemson, and the Hanover House, a colonial French Huguenot house relocated from Berkeley County to Clemson in 1941. Just a short drive from campus is Pendleton, the largest historical district in the state.

Pendleton is a quaint little town exemplifying South Carolina's history through such restored facilities as Ashtabula and Woodburn plantations. The town has the nation's oldest Farmers' Hall Society in continuous use, antique shops galore and fine restaurants.

The area's attractions don't end with the last football game of the season. Things might slow down a little with winter's cold, but there's still plenty to do.

For one thing, you might go see a play. You can choose between the University's Clemson Players or the Clemson Little Theater. Or you might spend your time developing your career at one of the university-sponsored professional development conferences. And for those adventurous souls, snow-skiing is just a short drive into the mountains.

When the snow melts, Clemson springs to life again. The best place to witness that is at the University Horticulture Gardens. Or you might walk around campus because the azaleas are splendid.

Once the sun starts getting a little too hot, though, don't despair. There's relief all around. The area is situated right next to Lake Hartwell, the perfect place for a swim. Or if sailing is your thing, just a short drive will put you at Lake Keowee, where you'll find some of the smoothest blue waters anywhere. Or if you like to sit back and fish, Lake Jocassee is famous for its trout.

After you've swum, sailed or fished the summer away, it's time again for the Tigers to return to the field. So keep in mind while you're sitting in Death Valley watching the Tigers destroy their opponents: Stick around a while. There's plenty to keep you busy.

In fact, you may like the area so much that you want to become one of the thousands who live like millions aspire to live. In that case, the area has Clemson Downs, a retirement community, and Keowee Key, situated by the lake.

Whatever the length of your visit, the Greater Clemson Chamber of Commerce hopes it's an enjoyable one. If you have any questions, be sure to stop by the Chamber offices at Calhoun Corners on Clemson Street, or give them a call at 803-654-1200.

The Annual Welcome Back gathering has become a popular event.

Mother-of-the-Year

Tiger Brotherhood Honors Lou Willimon

By Ira Bedenbaugh

It is most fitting that on Parents' Day, Tiger Brotherhood is able to honor its Mother-of-the-Year, Lou Willimon. In 37 years here at Clemson, she has been as active with the university as she has with the community.

Mrs. Willimon was born in Anderson, South Carolina and attended Girls' High School in Anderson. After graduation, she took several business courses from Singer Sewing Machine Company, Greenville, South Carolina. During this time, she worked for both McLees Brothers Jewelry Store and for Singer Sewing Machine Company as bookkeeper and Singer sewing instructor.

In 1937, she married Eugene P. Willimon, a 1933 Clemson Agricultural College graduate. Mr. Willimon was the owner of a successful insurance company in Greenville and involved in many civic activities. The Willimons had their first child, Eugene P. "Rusty," Jr. in 1940, then Louise "Weezie" McClure in 1944.

The Willimons came to Clemson in 1950 when Gene sold his interest in the insurance agency and accepted the position of Executive Secretary of IPTAY. Mrs. Willimon's contribution to the community began in earnest when she opened a preschool.

Her preschool had a great impact on the community as Dr. Jerome Reel, Vice Provost for Undergraduate Studies at Clemson University, states in a letter written to Mrs. Sidney Stokes, "In the community Lou's work has also been exemplary. For years she opened her home as a kindergarten for Clemson children below the first grade.

"In her care children learned to respect each other, to be thankful for their lives and blessings, and to play together. Bible stories and novel instruction was the bill to fare. To this day hundreds of men and women scattered throughout South Carolina and this region warmly remember her motherly concern for them."

Mrs. Willimon continued to work with young people when, in 1963, Clemson opened a dormitory for female students. She met with the girls regularly and formed a sorority. In 1970 the sorority became affiliated with Chi Omega. "As their chief advisor, Lou has helped direct the members to good moral judgements even when the decisions ran counter to the tenor of the times," Dr. Reel continues, "I fully believe that Lou's stable influence has been a major factor in many of the student's lives. And, indeed, over the 23 years, better than 600 students have profited from her guidance."

Mrs. Willimon has not limited her work just to these two areas. She has been a leader in volunteer work at Clemson Downs Health Center. As co-chair of Clemson Downs Volunteers, Mrs. Willimon was instrumental in the recruiting of 130 volunteers for the Clemson Downs Health Center. She feels that caring for the patients by visiting with them is very important. She states, "Besides our daily duties we feel actually visiting the patients is so important. Week after week you can see and feel the difference in the attitudes of the patients as they become closer friends with you. This contact with the elderly and ill brings an inner, indescribable feeling of satisfaction. The volunteer program makes you realize you are needed."

Mrs. Willimon's son, Rusty, is a 1962 graduate of Clemson Agricultural College. While at Clemson he was a member of Blue Key, Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi and a charter member of Delta Kappa Alpha fraternity which later became Alpha Tau Omega. He is a member of Tiger Brotherhood, serving as president while he was a student at Clemson. Rusty received his M.S. from Clemson College in 1963 and his Ph.D. from Clemson University in 1967. He is married to the former Patricia Goodwin of Lake City, South Carolina, and they have five children: Richie, Lisa, Angie, Cindy and Cliff. Rusty is employed by Milliken Company as General Manager of the Contract Carpet Division.

Mrs. Willimon's daughter, Weezie Gibson, is a 1966 graduate of the University of Georgia where she received a Bachelor's degree in Fine Arts. While at Georgia she was a member of Chi Omega sorority and served as "personnel chairman." During her senior year she served as the co-chairman of an annual art auction to benefit scholarships. Today she is very active in civic affairs and was the first woman to be elected to the Beaufort County School Board. Weezie is married to James S. Gibson, Jr., a lawyer in Beaufort. The Gibsons have two children, Josh and Elizabeth.

Tiger Brotherhood is very pleased to recognize Mrs. Lou Willimon, for her contributions to Clemson University and the Clemson community, as Mother-of-the-Year.

Furman vs. Clemson

The Tiger-Paladin Series Dates Back To Clemson's First Game

By Sam Blackman

The Clemson-Furman series could be called a collection of firsts.

The two teams have been involved in 48 previous contests, and with the two campuses being just 30 miles apart it was no accident that a rivalry developed. This game also served as the setting for many state championship games, many played on Thanksgiving Day. Although Clemson has dominated the series 34-10-4 and has won the last 22 games played, some interesting events have occurred surrounding the Clemson-Furman game. Many of them have been first of their kind.

Furman was Clemson's first opponent when the Tigers started playing football in 1896. Up until this time, Clemson had never fielded a football team of any kind, not even a club team. But some interested faculty and students asked the question, "why not football at Clemson," so the team formed and it practiced on the fields in front of Tillman Hall.

The Furman game on October 28, 1896, in Greenville, SC was not only the inaugural game for Clemson, but it was also the first time that many of Clemson's players had ever seen a gridiron. Despite the lack of experience the Tigers were victorious, 14-6.

In Clemson's first-ever game, the Tigers kept the Paladins off guard, and used trickery for the first time. G. H. Swygert, center for Clemson in the inaugural game, recalled the play that allowed the Tigers to score one of their touchdowns.

"One of our touchdowns came about when our lightest end received the ball and hid it under his sweater. With the two teams in the center of the field, he appeared to have been injured, and while everyone else was on one part of the field and things were cleared, he made a beeline for the goal."

With the legendary John Heisman coaching Clemson in 1902, the Tigers relied on the hand-off or lateral. The forward pass was against the rules at that time. On this particular outing, the Tigers found out for the first time what a difference the 12th man makes.

An oak tree, which for sentimental reasons had not been removed, stood a few feet within the playing field on the Furman campus. Observing this, Heisman came up with an ingenious plan. He instructed the Clemson running back to signal for a lateral pass whenever the line of scrimmage took place near the tree (no hashmarks then).

The pass would be from one back to another using the tree as the 12th Tiger—a natural obstruction to the defense. The play worked for a long gain, setting the stage for a touchdown in the 28-0 win.

In 1917, the first time that a Clemson player had ever scored five touchdowns in one game occurred against Furman. Stumpy Banks, a running back, crossed the goal line on five occasions and the Tigers registered a 38-0 win.

Probably another first among rival teams occurred when Clemson allowed Furman the use of its own bleachers for the annual Clemson-Furman battle. In the 1935 game, seats were trucked over from Clemson's Riggs Field to Furman's Manley Field to help accommodate the large crowd. Furman won the game, 8-6.

The 1936 game played at Clemson was probably the first time either team played in a snow storm. In front of 12,000 spectators, Furman's Joe Jenkins scored on a half-yard run. Pinky Babb, who later became a famous coach at Greenwood (SC) High School, blocked a Clemson punt with his face and June Scott carried the ball in for a touchdown in the Paladins' 12-0 win.

Another first in college football involved the two teams . . . the kidnapping of an opposing player. It involved Rhoten Shetley who came to Clemson originally, but ended up at Furman. "Shetley was another player who was stolen from us but this time he was literally taken out of one of our barracks," Howard said. "Some of the Furman coaches came over here and convinced him to go to Furman. I was an assistant coach back then and I told Coach (Jess) Neely I would go get him and bring him back, but they would not let me."

Another first, not only for Clemson and Furman, but probably for two football teams at any level, took place when Clemson and Furman used the same football pants on the same day in two different games.

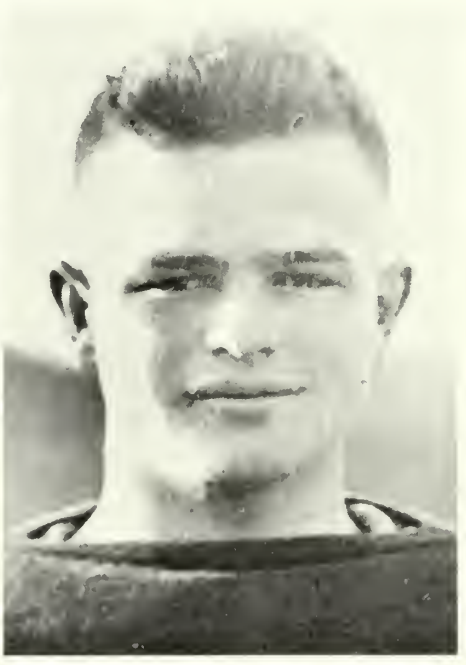
On October 8, 1960, Clemson defeated Virginia 21-7 and used special pants that were water repellent. After the contest, Clemson sent the pants to Greenville and allowed Furman to use the pants for a game that night against William and Mary.

Furman Head Coach Bob King said, "after those big Clemson boys got out of the pants some of our guys had a hard time making them stay up, and we had to tape the legs of the pants for several players." The pants beat two teams from Virginia on the same day.

The last time the Tigers and Paladins met was in 1979 as Danny Ford coached his first home game as the head Tiger mentor. The Tigers relied on three big plays to capture the 21-0 win. Lester Brown ran for touchdowns of 19 and 44 yards on his way to 101 total yards, while just playing in the first half. Perry Tuttle capped the scoring with an 81-yard touchdown, after receiving a Billy Lott pass.

As Clemson and Furman renew their series today, and if history is any type of indicator, who knows what firsts will occur.

Billy Lott quarterbacked the Tigers in the last Clemson game against Furman.



Stumpy Banks scored five TDs vs Furman in 1917.

IPTAY

America's Top Fundraising Organization

For the second consecutive year the Clemson athletic program can boast of 10 teams that finished the year ranked among the nation's Top 20.

This success comes at a time when spiralling costs make running a comprehensive athletic program increasingly difficult.

Clemson has met the challenge. But not without the help of IPTAY, one of the nation's premier athletic scholarship fundraising organizations.

IPTAY, which stands for "I Pay Thirty A Year," finances the education of nearly 400 student-athletes, trainers and managers each year. Due to the support provided by the organization, now in its 54th year, Clemson is one of the few schools in the nation that is able to award the maximum number of scholarships allowed by the NCAA for its 18 men's and women's varsity sports.

IPTAY recently received national acclaim as it was featured in SPORTS INC., a weekly publication devoted to the business of sports. And, at the first convention of the Athletic Fundraisers of America, held in June in Atlanta, IPTAY was one of the featured topics of discussion.

The organization is supported by over 20,000 dues-paying members who have enabled IPTAY to enjoy its 24th consecutive increase in annual donations. The tremendous growth of IPTAY has also made it the first athletic organization in the country to top the two, three, four and five million dollar marks in annual donations. The organization expects to approach $6 million in donations this fiscal year.

IPTAY's contributions have helped make Clemson's facilities second to none.

The success of IPTAY has enabled the organization to modify its purpose beyond the financing of scholarships to include the fiscal foundation for athletic facilities.

In recent years IPTAY has provided the funding for the addition of the upper deck on the north side of Memorial Stadium, an indoor tennis facility and the addition of a soccer facility which proved to be an especially timely move. The new soccer field enabled Clemson to play host to the 1987 NCAA men's soccer Final Four, where the Tigers proceeded to capture the national title.

IPTAY will now turn its attention to the enlargement of Tiger Field, home of the ACC regular-season champion Clemson baseball team. An addition will provide permanent seating for 3,000, will house indoor batting cages, locker rooms and extended press facilities.

The Tiger Band has also benefited from IPTAY's success. New uniforms were provided for the band in 1986. IPTAY also handled the band's travel expenses, providing a commitment of over $200,000.

Since the Tiger athletic program receives no university or state funding, the story of IPTAY is especially impressive. So impressive, in fact, that for six consecutive years allocations from student fees have been returned to the university by the athletic department.

While IPTAY has primarily been concerned with athletic fundraising, the organization's commitment to Clemson University extends beyond the playing field. The IPTAY Athletic Academic Endowment Scholarship Fund, created during the fall of 1984 to award students whose performance in the classroom warranted distinction, is currently the second-largest academic scholarship endowment at Clemson. The fund is presently nearing the $1 million mark. IPTAY also provides one of the most progressive tutorial programs in the country, where student-athletes are given the opportunity to call on the services of a highly-trained academic advising staff.

The tremendous success of IPTAY can be attributed, in large part, to its organization which, affords the group a great deal of "grassroot" support. Each of South Carolina's 46 counties has an IPTAY chairman, while every county is allotted one representative for every 36 members.

Every member is kept abreast of Clemson athletics through the ORANGE AND WHITE. As the official publication of IPTAY, the ORANGE AND WHITE is exclusively distributed to IPTAY members.

With the continued assistance provided by IPTAY, Clemson University will continue to enjoy national prominence athletically and academically.

Centennial Celebration

This past April 6 was a great day for Clemson. It marked the beginning of the university's second century of teaching, research and public service. As the official beginning of Clemson's Centennial celebration, county Extension offices along with local alumni and Clemson Clubs across the state hosted local ceremonies to unfurl the new Clemson flag and fly it for the first time. Meanwhile, a main-campus ceremony featured university leaders, Congressman Butler Derrick and Senators Strom Thurmond and Ernest Hollings. Noting that the day also marked the 100th anniversary of the death of Thomas Green Clemson, President Max Lennon said, "We do not honor his death; rather we celebrate the tremendous gift to the citizens of South Carolina made possible by his will." Thus began the 20-month celebration that will honor the founder and the founding of our university.

Examining the contents of the cornerstone time capsule.

Clemson's establishment didn't happen overnight. It took almost two years for the state to accept the gift of land and money provided by Mr. Clemson's will for "a college for all the people." It seems only fair that we spend the same amount of time celebrating—and reflecting upon—the many contributions Clemson has made to South Carolina.

Just as Clemson is made up of a diverse group of alumni, students, staff and faculty, so the Centennial celebration reflects our different interests. The focus of the first phase last spring was "The University and the Arts," with a burst of cultural events capped by a lecture by opera star Beverly Sills.

This fall the focus will be "The University and the Sciences," with environmentalist John McKetta delivering the central lecture. "The University and the Economy" next spring will feature a visit by Nobel Prize-winning economist George Stigler, and the final focus, "The University and the Wider World," will bring William F. Buckley to the campus to speak.

It may seem that all we're doing to celebrate is listening to speeches. Wrong! Each college has planned individual activities, and the town of Clemson even got involved and held a "Happy Birthday, Clemson" picnic on Bowman Field in June. More festivities are planned throughout the Centennial period.

In fact, consider this your invitation to our big public birthday party the weekend of April 1, 1989. "Cornerstone Weekend" will feature a campus-wide exhibition and open house, a parade, fireworks, tours, the continuous showing of a new Clemson film, performances, the annual Spring Game, and the replacing of the Tillman Hall cornerstone, filled with new mementos for the second century.

The Centennial is more than just a party. It's even more than just an intellectual exercise. It's an opportunity for all the Clemson family to celebrate together our origin, our progress so far, and the promise the future holds. If only Mr. Clemson could see what he started!

Assistant Coaches

Cohesive Staff in its Third Year as a Unit

TOM HARPER is entering his eighth season as assistant head coach for the Tigers. The former Wake Forest head coach also guides the Tiger defensive line. Harper came to Clemson from Virginia Tech, where he served as defensive coordinator and defensive line coach. A native of Piqua, Ohio, Harper also served as the defensive coordinator at Iowa State (1974-75) and North Carolina (1976-77). He earned his bachelor's degree from the University of Kentucky in 1955 and, in 1958, he received a master's degree in education administration from the same institution. Harper lettered in three sports for the Wildcats and earned three letters as a tackle. His recruiting responsibilities include New York and South Carolina. Since coming to Clemson, he has overseen a defense that has had 19 players drafted by the NFL. Harper has had a hand in coaching six ACC championship teams, four at Clemson.

MILES ALDRIDGE joined the Clemson staff on June 28, 1985 after a two-year stint at Duke. A native of Kansas City, MO, Aldridge coaches the inside linebackers. A 1971 graduate of Gardner-Webb College, Aldridge began coaching on the collegiate level at East Tennessee State (1973-77) prior to stints at Wichita State (1978) and Tulsa (1979). He recruits the lower part of South Carolina, Philadelphia and New Jersey.

WAYNE BOLT is in his third year with Clemson as he joined the Tiger staff on March 10, 1986. His responsibilities include coaching the tight ends and kickoff return teams. He is also the football dorm director and does not recruit off campus. Bolt's first season as a Tiger coach saw him coach an All-ACC tight end (Jim Riggs), while his kickoff return team led the nation in average return, just the second team statistical championship in Clemson history. Bolt earned all-conference and All-America honors during his playing career as an offensive guard for East Carolina (1974-77). He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant for the Pirates. He then spent a year at Wyoming before moving on to Auburn in 1981.

JACK CROWE joined the Clemson staff on February 24, 1986, as the Tiger quarterback coach. He came to Clemson from Auburn, where he served as offensive coordinator under Pat Dye and coached Heisman Trophy winner Bo Jackson. He has also been offensive coordinator at Wyoming and North Alabama, and was both an assistant and head coach at Livingston University. Crowe received his undergraduate degree in chemistry from Alabama-Birmingham in 1970, and completed his master's degree in education from Livingston in 1973. The Fairfield, AL, native is responsible for recruiting Georgia, Virginia, Washington, DC, and Alabama.

BILL D'ANDREA rejoined the Clemson staff on June 23, 1986 after spending two seasons at Southern Mississippi. Prior to that he was a graduate assistant coach at East Carolina, a full-time assistant at the University of Virginia, Massanutten Military Academy and Catawba College. He also spent two years (1983-84) at Clemson as a graduate assistant. D'Andrea received his bachelor's degree from Indiana State in 1973, and completed his master's degree in 1975. He lacks only a few semester hours from receiving a second master's degree. He coaches the offensive tackles and recruits North Carolina, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

WOODY McCORVEY is in his sixth year on the Tiger coaching staff, where he coaches the wide receivers. For three years he coached the Tigers' tight ends, and for two of those seasons he coached the All-ACC tight end. This is his third season coaching the wide receivers. His recruiting responsibilities include eastern North Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi and Florida. McCorvey came to Clemson from Alabama A&M where he was offensive coordinator for four years. The 1972 Alabama State graduate lettered four years in football at the school before earning his physical education degree. He received a master's degree in health, leisure, and sports from the University of West Florida in 1977.

BILL OLIVER is in his third season as the defensive secondary coach. He also recruits for the Tigers in Florida, Alabama and Georgia. A native of Livingston, AL, he began his collegiate coaching career as defensive secondary coach at Auburn, and five years later was hired by the late Paul "Bear" Bryant to fill the same position at Alabama. His most recent stint prior to coming to Clemson, however, was with the Memphis Showboats of the United States Football League, where he served as senior defensive coordinator and secondary coach. Oliver was a member of the 1961 undefeated National Championship Alabama team, and he received his bachelor's degree in 1962. In the two years he has been at Clemson, the Tigers have led the ACC in completion percentage defense and fewest yards per attempt allowed.

CHUCK REEDY is in his 11th season as the Tigers' running back coach. His recruiting territory includes South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, New England and New York. The St. Augustine, FL, native earned two letters in football from Appalachian State, where he was a 1971 graduate in health and physical education. He came to Clemson from Kentucky on July 5, 1978. No less than 12 former Clemson running backs who have been coached by Reedy have been drafted or signed free agent contracts. Six players he has coached have either played in the NFL or were selected in the first two rounds of the NFL draft. Seven of the top 10 single season individual rushing performances have taken place under Reedy, and seven of his former players were in the NFL last year.

LARRY VAN DER HEYDEN joined the Clemson staff on January 5, 1979. A native of Brazil, Iowa, Van Der Heyden coaches the offensive line and recruits upper South Carolina, North Carolina and western Pennsylvania. He came to Clemson after coaching stints at Memphis State, Virginia, East Carolina, Indiana State, Drake and Iowa State. He was a three-time letterwinner in football and baseball at both Moline (IL) High and at Iowa State. He earned two degrees from Iowa State, a bachelor's in physical education in 1962, and a master's in education in 1968. A member of the Big-Eight all-conference football team in 1961, he was selected to the all-time Iowa State team by former players and coaches.

TOMMY WEST is in his seventh season coaching the Clemson defensive and bandit ends. His recruiting territory includes Florida and Georgia, and he also follows junior college athletes across the country. Prior to his arrival at Clemson, West coached at Appalachian State until July of 1982. A native of Gainesville, GA, West earned his bachelor's degree in health education from the University of Tennessee in 1975 after lettering three years in football and baseball. A fine all-around athlete, West was a second-round draft pick out of high school by the Chicago Cubs.

Tiger Soccer

Ibrahim's Team Defends The National Title

Clemson Coach I. M. Ibrahim hoists his second National Championship trophy in four years after last year's title-clinching win over San Diego State.

By Sam Blackman

With a crew of freshmen and very few upperclassmen listed on the roster, the 1987 Clemson Tiger soccer team was supposed to experience a rebuilding year. But no one told the Tigers that they could not go beyond expectations, so Clemson proceeded to the NCAA playoffs and surprised the collegiate soccer world by winning the national championship. It was truly a feat that would be comparable to a fantasy.

Coach Ibrahim stated on these pages last year that the national title was not a realistic goal. Unexpected surprises and quick turnarounds can be the most rewarding.

"Last year I did not dream of winning it all," said Head Coach Dr. I. M. Ibrahim, who has been the Tigers' mentor since the program started in 1967. "When we won the national championship in 1984 it was a realistic goal, we had plenty of depth and talented players. However, the 1987 championship was totally unexpected. It is a tremendous thrill to achieve something that was totally unexpected. Many years in the past it was legitimate for us to have high expectations, but we had no idea we would win the 1987 national championship," said Ibrahim.

Coach I. M. Ibrahim is quick to point out that the Tigers must not look back, but instead start from ground level in 1988. One of the keys to this year's success will be the maturation of last year's freshmen, and the extent that the recruiting class of 1988 will be able to contribute. "We have to approach this year with an extreme degree of cautious optimism," said Ibrahim. "We had a young team in 1987 with six seniors, three sophomores, and six freshman, and we said to ourselves that there was no way we could be a successful team. We considered last year a rebuilding year too, but it turned out to be a championship season. We consider 1988 as a rebuilding year also. We really have to work hard and accept very little."

The 1988 team could be called even younger than the 1987 club, as the Tigers' roster does not have any seniors listed, compared to last year's six seniors. "We have to be cautious and cannot be too optimistic just because the six starting freshmen from 1987 are back. We cannot count on them to carry the team."

The depth of the 1988 team allows for extensive competition in all positions. "I have more candidates than normal for the various positions on the team and I did that on purpose. I wanted to signal to all of the returning players that they have to prove themselves each and every day and not to dwell on the past."

The Tigers' Riggs field will see a great deal of action this fall. The site of the 1987 NCAA finals will play host to two tournaments and 14 matches. The Tigers will play six teams that went to last year's NCAA division I tournament. The Clemson-Umbro tournament will take place on October 14 and 16, while the second annual ACC tournament will be in Clemson on November 3, 4, and 6.

GOALKEEPER

The area of goalkeeping will be the weakest on the team this year, and according to Ibrahim this position will dictate just how well the Tigers will perform. Clemson lost Tim Genovese, who started all of the NCAA playoff games last year and was the goalie in Clemson's win over South Carolina. He gave up only six goals in eight appearances and was a key performer in both national championships this decade.

"This will be our achilles heel this year. Tim did a great job last year. If someone can emerge from the four players we have, we will be a strong contender." Four players will be vying for the position. Roberto Marinaro and Kevin Taylor are the two returnees. Marinaro started in 11 games for the Tigers last year and played in 14 contests for a total of 1,015 minutes. Marinaro gave up 11 goals for a .78 goal per game average. Kevin Taylor played in four games last year for 195 minutes and had a .75 goal per game average.

Newcomers Brian Mills and Mike Cummins have the potential to challenge for a starting role at goalkeeper. Both players come to Clemson with good credentials. Mills was a three-year Georgia State select-team choice while also being named his high school's MVP for three years in a row. Cummings was a three-time Texas select-team choice and was named to the all-state team in Texas his senior year.

Tormey will torment enemy defenses again in 1988.

BACKFIELD

"We have a lot of strength in the backfield," said Ibrahim. Clemson lost All-American Paul Rutenis and Paul Carollo to graduation, and also John Meek, who transferred to another school closer to home. However, returning will be two sophomore starters, Andres Alos and Joey Feinberg. Both are strong candidates for post season honors.

Coach Ibrahim was pleased with the play of both players last year as freshmen. "Both Alos and Feinberg started last year and are outstanding players. I suspect they will help us considerably in our defense."

The Tigers also landed outstanding recruits who should fill the vacancies left from last year. "We have recruited one of the best defenders in the country in Steve Wolf," said Ibrahim. Wolf was a Parade Magazine All-American. Freshmen Rob Lepping and Bobby Murphy, according to Ibrahim, hope to develop into strong players who can dominate play. Ibrahim hopes they can become attacking center backs and support the midfield the way Paul Rutenis did last year. Rutenis was the third leading scorer last season, an unusual accomplishment for a backfield player.

Joe Hummell, who has served as a dependable reserve the first two years of his career, gained a great deal of experience in 1987. The Tigers have plenty of experience and material at this position to form a good defense. "The defense should be strong within time. We are deep with many talented players," said Ibrahim.

MIDFIELD

The Tigers return three starters in the midfield; only Academic All-American Jamie Rootes has graduated. Thirteen players on this year's team are midfielders. On the wings are Thomas Najjar and Edo Boonstoppel, the fourth and fifth leading scorers on last year's team, respectively. Najjar had five assists and four goals for 13 points, while Boonstoppel had six assists and four goals for 14 points. Dave Veghte, a junior, was a much improved player last year and accounted for seven points.

Newcomer Quinton Fraai entered school last spring and participated in drills. "Fraai is a leader and is a strong candidate to take over a significant role." Clemson also did well adding depth to this position with recruits. Junior Armstrong is a Parade Magazine All-American, while Andrew Chadwick is a strong and quick player. T. J. Blum and Mark Muschick should also challenge for a starting role. Kevin England, who was redshirted last year due to an injury, showed progress last spring.

Depth and strength describe this position, not to mention the competition that will be created for a starting role. Also returning from last year will be Nick Midulla, and Richard Richmond, who scored the insurance goal in the national championship win over San Diego State. Richmond led the ACC in the number of assists in ACC matches with four. "We have 13 players at midfield which is an unusually large number. Finding the right combination and the right people is going to take patience."

STRIKERS

Undoubtly Clemson lost a key player in Hermann Trophy winner Bruce Murray, the first National Player of the Year in any sport at Clemson. Murray, a two-time All-American, left a big void to fill. But, the Tigers' second best scorers from each of the last two seasons are back. David Fortner, who was redshirted last year, was the Tigers' second leading scorer in 1986 with eight goals. Pearse Tormey, who was Clemson's second leading scorer last year with 11 goals and six assists for 28 points, will be back for his sophomore season. Tormey can be a candidate for all-star honors this season. Tim Slaughter, who played in seven games last season, will also return.

The Tigers added to the roster one of Canada's top players in James Grimes. "I am high on Grimes. I think he will be a great player at Clemson. Armstrong, who is also listed as a midfielder, will also add depth to this position."

Marketing Students Tackle Ultimate Football

By Robin DeLoach

"Ultimate Football"—it sounds like the dream of every Tiger fan!

For Clemson's College of Commerce and Industry, it's the ultimate link between education and business for its marketing students, its Small Business Development Center (SBDC) and a South Carolina businessman.

"Ultimate Football League Strategy Game" is a new board game analyzed as a spring semester class project in Marketing 422. Jacquetta McClung, assistant professor of marketing, agreed for one of her classes to take on the project—a market test for a new product—for an SBDC client.

What better place to test a football board game than Clemson—where 80,000 screaming fans, most dressed in orange and white, pack the stands in Death Valley every Saturday there's a home football game in Tiger town?

"Since Clemson loves football so much, it was an excellent place to test the game," says McClung. "Football fanatics abound here!"

"I admit I'm a football fanatic," says the game's creator, Mike Hopkins of Greenville. "Football season is too short, and I wanted to play the game year-round. So, I started thinking about how I could do that."

Once he had the idea and a prototype design, Hopkins had to know if the game would go over. Would it work? Were there other football fans out there who yearned to punt, tackle, pass and score touchdowns 365 days a year? He enthusiastically turned to Clemson's SBDC and marketing department for help.

"The SBDC is set up to provide small businesses with management and technical assistance, information on everything from the basic how-to-set-up-a-small-business to financing to marketing," says Dave Taylor, director of the SBDC.

Hopkins is one of nearly 700 small business clients the Clemson SBDC served during the past year. The SBDC is part of a consortium with centers at Clemson, the University of South Carolina, S.C. State College and Winthrop College. The Clemson SBDC, with satellite offices in Spartanburg, Greenville and Greenwood, serves the 11 northwestern counties of the state.

Walt Chandler of the Greenville satellite office worked with Hopkins on his project, suggesting that a Clemson marketing class test the product.

Spring semester turned into football season for the Marketing 422 students. Each student player was a team, and each student had to get three others to be in his/her division. The teams played the game outside of class, using score sheets, and the students discussed the new product, strategies and results in class. The teams progressed though division and championship play during the season. (Clemson University football players, who might have a strategic advantage, were not eligible to participate.)

At the onset of the project, the students answered a survey about what kinds of games they liked to play, how much they knew about football and other general leisure activity questions. At the end of the semester, another survey asked their opinions about the new game—its rules, equipment, time period, target audience.

"We really got some good results which we passed along in a report to the client," says McClung. "The students said there were too many rules and they were difficult to understand. They said the game time period was too long. They thought the game would appeal most to a male market, especially strategists who like to play games that require a lot of thought and concentration, eliminate chance and give the player a lot of control.

"We recommended that the designer include a shorter rule book and a timer to reduce the time a player had to make a move, and we suggested some equipment modifications."

Hopkins, who plans to market the game locally in October, found the product test results helpful and made many of the changes suggested by the marketing class.

"They were very helpful and answered a lot of questions I had about the game itself and how best to market it," he says. "I took their suggestions and simplified the rules and made some changes in the figurines. The feedback on the target audience was also very useful—they said the group it would appeal to most are people in the 15-25 age range who are really into the sport and like strategy games."

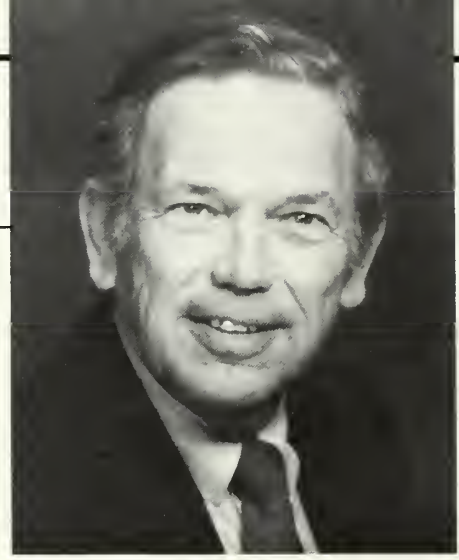
The Last Word



By Bob Bradley

Clemson lined up for its first football snap October 28, 1896. On the other side of the ball was Furman. That started the Tigers in the collegiate football business, and down some pretty competitive roads.

Clemson and the Purple Hurricane (as Furman was known as then) played only once more between that 1896 opener—won by the Tigers, 14-6—and 1914. And the Tigers won the first seven games.

But from then until 1936, Furman had a 10-5 edge on Clemson, along with three ties. And eight of the 10 wins were by shutouts. Four of the victories were engineered by A. P. "Dizzy" McLeod, who many say was "ahead of his time" when it came to innovative football.

McLeod, whose father-in-law put the glass bottom boats at Silver Springs on the map, was at Furman 11 seasons and had winning campaigns eight of his first nine years. The Purple Hurricane dropped football in 1943 and 1944 and McLeod moved to Florida and went into the orange-growing business.

McLeod never forgot his South Carolina ties. In 1956 when the Tigers went to Gainesville to play Florida, they stayed right across the street from the Silver Springs resort. McLeod gave each Clemson coach and player a bag of oranges apiece in their rooms upon arrival.

In 1936, in the 25th renewal between the two teams, the Tigers were the favorite, but as snow flurries came throughout the game, McLeod had his team poised for one of the biggest upsets of the series.

Frank Howard never lost to the Paladins.

His "Purple House of Magic" used a blocked punt and a pass to score two last quarter touchdowns for a 12-0 victory.

Pinky Babb, June Scott, Carl Nolin and Earle Traynham were names mentioned often in the victory, but the one to crop up the most was that of Bob King. The senior captain, who later came back to serve as Furman's head coach longer than anyone else, was the keystone in the Purple Hurricane defense.

The late Carter (Scoop) Latimer, in his account of the game in the Greenville News, said: "King fully lived up to his reputation as perhaps the greatest end Furman ever had.

"The triumph, as a tribute to Captain King and other seniors on the Furman squad, also put the chaplet on the shelf for Coach McLeod and his assistants who had wisely figured this would be the one big game they wanted to win most of all."

That 12-0 victory in 1936 was the last Furman win over the Tigers. The teams battled to a scoreless tie the next year in Greenville; Clemson won 10-7 the next year at Clemson. The 15th-ranked Tigers took a close 14-3 triumph in 1939, then were invited to the Cotton Bowl.

It was while Clemson was in Dallas preparing for the game against Frank Leahy's Boston College Eagles that Rice approached Jess Neely about leaving Clemson for the Houston school.

There are two versions of Howard staying at Clemson. Howard had said on many occasions that the late business manager of Clemson, J. C. Littlejohn, had told him that he would be the new head coach if Neely left.

At the time, Clemson held a close 14-10-4 edge on Furman. Neely, apparently trying to pressure Howard into going to Rice, told him: "Frank, you'd better come on and go with us. About the time Furman beats you three or four times, they'll run you out of the county."

Howard retorted: "Furman ain't never going to beat me."

And they didn't. He was 19-0 against them when he retired in 1969.

Another version is told by Billy Sullivan, who at the time was publicity director of the Boston College team and would later own the New England Patriots.

Sullivan says he was in the hotel room in Dallas the night Neely revealed that Rice had approached him about becoming its head coach. After Neely made known his Rice offer, Sullivan said Howard made the statement to Neely: "Well, I'm not going with you." And Neely snapped back: "I hadn't planned to ask you."

Either Howard was pretty confident of being Neely's successor, or Littlejohn had whispered sweet things in his ears. The athletic council called Howard to come up for an interview, and after the interrogation, Howard retired to the back of the room to hear his named kicked around.

Following some discussion, Prof. "Slim" Rhodes said: "I nominate Frank Howard to be the new Clemson head coach." Howard piped up with: "I second the nomination." He stayed around for 30 years, 29½ of them without a contract.

Howard might not have ever lost to Furman, but there were times when he had a few anxious moments. And probably one he remembers best is the 1958 game.

The Tigers apparently had the Sugar Bowl wrapped up against the No. 1-ranked LSU Tigers of Paul Dietzel with a win over Furman. Sugar Bowl president Monk Simons was on hand for the game and to extend the invitation afterwards.

The Tigers scored just past the halfway point of the first quarter and went to the locker room with a sizzling 30-0 halftime lead. Clemson had 255 yards of total offense to 58 for Furman. Howard said later that he didn't even go in and talk to the team at halftime.

That decision nearly proved fatal.

Furman outscored Clemson, 19-6, in the second half and outgained the Tigers 217 yards to 126.

As the Clemson staff, Simons and the press members walked up Williamson Road from the stadium to Fike Field House, not many words were spoken. Howard wasn't too sure that Clemson would get the Sugar Bowl bid because of its poor second half showing. But Simons made a call to New Orleans and got the okay to invite the Tigers.

Incidentally, the man who masterminded that second half Furman comeback had been a thorn in Clemson's side before.

His name—Bob King.
